WELCOME

Dear Cattle Friends,

The cattle market is great! All of the cattle folks I know work very hard, and they deserve to receive the excellent prices this market has brought to us. Most of us have lived long enough to see market cycles in land, grain prices and now, cattle.

So people ask, how long will these strong cattle prices last? No one knows for sure, but this cycle has the ingredients to last several years. We can't plant cows fence row to fence row like farmers can with corn or wheat. Rebuilding the cow-herd takes years in the cattle business.

Speaking of fences, many have been pulled up, and the ground is now being farmed. I don't foresee that land going back into grass for cattle. Lots of CRP land has also turned into grain fields. One analyst that I follow feels we will not see the cattle prices peak for 12 to 16 months ... we will see. All I know for sure is we all need to sell some cattle at these prices to get some of these record-high prices!

The demand for bred females are setting new records. My advice is if you are happy with your cow numbers where they are at in your herd, turn out Charolais bulls and sell the steers and all the heifers for a few years, and bank these high prices. If you feel the need to get replacement females or have a market for them, then select one of our outstanding Angus bulls. Either way we have an excellent selection of breeding bulls in this sale for you.

Our Charolais bull offering consists of some super long-bodied, thick-made bulls. We started with 58 bulls and have culled down to 42 head. We selected for growth traits, calving ease, disposition and eye appeal. I knew when we sold so many cows that to be able to provide our customers with a good-quality choice, we had to reduce the number of bulls we sold last year, and we did just that.

I sorted this group of bulls off early last winter and not one head was sold out of that pen after that. We wintered these Charolais bulls on a slow-growth ration. They were summered on a quarter and 80 of native pasture, and we brought them home at the end of October. They are doing very well and gaining and growing like crazy. They are all virgin bulls, and all semen checked and measured on Dec 5th.

These excellent Charolais bulls will cover a lot of ground and breed a lot of cows. Never has that been more important as open cows have never been more costly to an operation. Please consider these bulls as most were either off of first-calf heifers or born from great cows just a bit later in the spring.

If you are shopping for an outstanding Angus bull, please take a look at our offering. Most are A.I. sired and out of some great herd-building cow families. I'll tell you more about each one in the footnotes.

Thanks for coming to our sale! Please join us at 11:30 in the Kist Café for a complimentary meal. We appreciate your business!

Thanks,

Jan, Sally and Randy Severance

Forty Years: Where we've been and where we are going!

This has been quite a journey, but it has went by so fast! If someone would ask me, it feels more like it should have been 20 years. I can remember back in the beginning years that it was stated by one of the breed associations at that time, that the average time for a person to be in the purebred business was seven years. That is not what we've seen in the Midwest for sure. The commitment has been for generations. My dad had purebred Charolais cows, and we also had purebred Angus cows too. I always felt that both had a real purpose in the cattle industry.

We were married in the summer of 1975. I owned six purebred Charolais cows at the time. We bought our picks of the herd from Dick Iverson of Alexander. Those cows cost us around $750 each. From those cows, we built a herd. Sally and I both went to A.I. school back then, and we've spent the time and money A.I.ing cows ever since.

We raised four great kids, and maybe they raised themselves some too. We were so busy building a place, a herd, a farm and a ranch all at the same time it seemed. The kids all had a hand in building the place as when we moved to our place in 1980, there wasn't a tree or post in the ground. We lived in a one-bedroom trailer house for the first eight years. After No. 4 came along we finally got financing to build a house. We were with FHA at the time and we would take all four kids in there – I think they just said "sign here" just to get ALL of us out of their office!

I know I could write a book on the mistakes I have made, but would rather focus on the successes we have enjoyed on this journey. Our greatest success is the friends we have made! I absolutely love the cattle people. They are the best friends anyone could find. We have made lifelong friends and we cherish that! I love the smell of the cattle auction rings. A place where we all could get a paycheck, some years bigger than others. Purebred cattle sales ... here's where unless you have walked the path, it's hard to comprehend the work and time it takes to put together an annual purebred sale. But the rewards, to hear that the bull you sold a customer worked well for them and made them money, make it all worth it.

Time to tell you where we are going! We sold a large group of Charolais cows last year, but we kept the heifer calves and a few good old cows. We plan to rebuild an extremely high-quality herd of around 80 Charolais cows. We also have about 125 head of really great Angus cows that Randy owns with us. So, God willing, we will continue till we are told otherwise.

Speaking of God, I feel compelled to tell you about what I feel is the biggest thing I have learned in life. In the spring of 2007, a cow didn't like me touching her newborn calf, and she let me know it. She smashed me into a gate for what seemed like an hour, but was really only a few minutes. Long story short, I spent 40 days in the hospital, with 30 of them in ICU. I vividly remember nearly dying in there. It was very calm, very peaceful and I could tell I was rising up and leaving. Then I opened my eyes and I was lying in bed in ICU with a nurse right beside me. I asked her why they didn't let me go, and she said we can't do that and it wasn't your time yet. I saw the cart with the paddles beside me, I knew they had brought me back, but I also know there is something for us after this life!

Let me share one more thing. This summer, our daughter Robyn called one Sunday and told us there was a really good evangelist at her church in Minot that morning, and he was going to speak again that night and we should come hear him. This middle-aged guy was from Texas and he had really gotten on the wrong path in life. That path took him to prison. That's where he learned about the Bible and God. It changed his life and there he stood in front of this church asking for people to come down and he would pray for them. Sally said I should go, tell him your shoulder is hurting like you tell me all the time. Nah, I wasn't going up there in front of all those strangers, but I did see people up there and he seemed to be connecting with them. So my daughter Robyn jumps up and goes up front and gets this evangelist and brings him back to me. He asks some things and I tell him how my left shoulder hurts all the time from the cow beating. So we prayed about it, he held my hand and I could feel a release of pain in my shoulder like a spring unwinding, it pushed me back in my chair. I have never had that sharp driving pain in that left shoulder since. I believe there are life lessons that are meant to be shared.

Thanks for listening and thanks for being our friends!

This smooth-made Earnan son has been an eye-catching standout from early days in his life! You will like the smooth-made front shoulders and the extra length he expresses, along with a wide top line. Dam has a NR of 110% on 2 head. Granddam has a NR of 105% on 5 head. Granddam weaned off this year's top weaning heifer calf, sired by Earnan! His great granddam was a beautiful, thick-made Right Time daughter. The fourth dam was a donor cow for us that did an excellent job producing top calves. The Earnan progeny are strong performers and Lot 1's maternal side is top-of-the-line also! Selling 2/3 Interest and full possession.

Right Time has been one of the mainstream sires in the Angus breed for over two decades. On Feb. 20, 2003, Right Time was laid to rest on the Vermilion Ranch. His service to the beef industry was one of the most influential of any Angus bull in history. Right Time was the high-selling bull in the breed in the 1993 sale season bringing $160,000 from Pat Goggins for the Vermilion Ranch of Billings, Mont. Right Time has sired some of the highest valued females of the breed as they continue to be some of the most Sired by the legend, Leachman Right Time. I keep breeding to Right Time trying to collect the females as they are outstanding. This time I got a really nice bull with some great performance. He will do a great job of siring top-notch calves and will leave you with some "priceless" females!

FEEDING ARRANGEMENTS FOR YEARLING BULLS:

We can feed the yearling bulls till April 1st for you if that fits your program better.

We charge $2 a day, which includes a complete growing ration along with Flax lick barrels and a 5-day antibiotic treatment in the feed in March, to clean up any white blood cells that can occur in the semen from excess riding. We will meet you in a central locations in early April so you can take delivery. Or you can take the yearling bulls home sale day and take the hauling discount.

Note: The past few years we have seen a noticeable increase in the quality of semen produced by bulls fed Flax lick barrels during the winter. It's worth the investment!

TC Aberdeen was the 2008 high-seller at TC Ranch at $77,000. His dam and granddam are excellent females in the TC herd. During the 2010 sale season, Aberdeen sired the $37,000 high-selling bull at Lindskov-Thiel, a $30,000 son at TC Ranch and the $25,000 high-selling bull at Ellingson Angus. Sired by the great C-C & 7 bull, who is known for very docile cattle. C-C & 7 also brings muscle and power. This bull will work on heifers or cows very well. We tagged this bull and then it dropped to 20 below, and he froze the ear that was tagged. We must have disrupted the blood flow enough to cause that. So he is missing part of his ear on one side, but he will breed just fine without that!

popular sire, CC & 7 posted an adj. scrotal measurement of 40.1 cm, and froze 127 units of high-quality semen at ORigen on his first collection day, just five days past his first birthday. CC & 7 is named for his two closest sires, Connection and Corona. Fact, all seven females in his three-generation pedigree have either served as a SydGen donor or been the dam of a SydGen donor. He stems from the foundation GDAR Forever Lady 178. CC & 7 is well known for his docility and muscling, as well as the milk production and udder quality of his daughters.

This bull is the youngest bull in the sale, but you would never guess it looking at his size. The growth he has stems back to his Emblynette dam and granddam the famous old SAV Sky Diamond 2582, who was the dam of so many of Ellingson's and Schaff's top-performance cows. There is tremendous growth power in the blood of that cow family.

Lot 38 is sired by the top-selling and top-performance bull of our 2010 annual bull sale. Dam is an own daughter of the legend LT Wyoming Wind 4020. Both Lots 38 and 39 are April bulls and normally I don't put those younger bulls into our sale. But a lot of the older cows we kept had heifer calves. So what I want to do is if you buy Lots 38 or 39, I would prefer to take them back home, and keep them on our growing ration until sometime in April. That way I feel they would get a fair chance to grow out and become the bulls they have the genetic potential to be. We would feed and deliver them to you at no charge.

This maybe takes some explaining. Maybe I've lost my mind, but I went to get the bander before I turned this calf out of the calving barn with his mom and I couldn't make myself do it. I kept thinking this is an own son of the deceased SAV Final Answer. I bred this recip heifer to him as I had no embryo to put in her at the time. I wanted a heifer to keep building my recip herd. But I got this growthy fellow. His dam is half Angus, half Charolais and can she ever raise a calf! I kept thinking this is a 3/4 blood Angus, sired by Final Answer and has all the grow power and size of a Charolais bull.

Long Distance is well documented for calving ease and low birth weight. He has been a multi-year double-trait leader for Calving Ease and Low Birth Weight, and is recommended for heifers. He has been used across the country on hundreds of heifers both purebred and commercial. With nearly 800 purebred progeny with data, he has proven short gestations and true heifer calving ease. More than a heifer bull though, Long Distance progeny will distance themselves from the pack with docile temperaments, maternal potential, superior conformation, sound structure and lots of eye appeal.

We started taking pictures of these bulls in our picture pen and it soon got sloppy from the mid-December thaw. Our goal was to show as many of the sale bulls as we possibly could, so that you could see the depth of quality in this offering. We found out that we could get many more pictures in less time by just taking pictures of them in their pen. So that's what we did. Some bulls aren't pictured, but for no reason other than we didn't catch them standing alone while we were in the pen.

Cattle Business 598 was the high selling bull in our 2010 sale going to the Helling Ranch for $10,000. We were able to use the bull some in our herd and we really liked the calves. Bull calves are masculine and growthy and the females are becoming top producers. Note the Cattle Business sons selling as coming 2-year-olds all have scrotal measurements of 40 cm or over.

These Cattle Business 598 sons really bring the grow power. They are all very long made with strong tops and good hindquarters. 598 himself was our top-selling bull in our 2010 sale. His dam is now a donor cow for Utopia Genetics in Missouri. His performance was record setting for us that year. Sadly the bull is dead so this will be his last calf crop for us.

The 598 bull never got a chance to sire any calves early in the season, as we A.I.-breed all of our cows first. But he has proven to me that he can get the job done very well on these calves from the second half of the calving season.

This bull has a lower birth weight, but he also has that extra length and depth of body that will make him a top-notch sire that you can be proud of as he walks your pastures. He had two loose scurs on him that one could see after clipping his head, so we wire sawed the one off that had a point and left the other one alone. If I had to pick favorites, this would be one of them.

We managed these bulls differently than the yearlings that got sold in last year's sale. At weaning time, we split them into two groups. These bulls were fed a low-cost ration and then they were summered on a 240-acre pasture till late October. I like the way they look now, and they have developed into very uniform group.

The first Sanchez calves are on the ground and look good, come easy, are vigorous and have very respectable BW. Sanchez blends generations of Cobb Performance and Carcass Breeding with one of Canada's most noted cow families from the sparrow program. Here is a nice, smooth-made bull that will breed a lot of cows. I always figured about 20 cows to a yearling bull, and when they were 2-year-olds, I would sort 35 cows for them. It would work if the pastures were not too big and it didn't get too hot in the summer.

The highest adjusted weaning weight bull in the sale, he has that grow power. Truth be told his birth mom was a 2001 model cow, and her udder was wore out. So I grafted him on to the mother of the heifer that raised the Lot 40 bull.

Lot 69 is out of one of my favorite cows. She left me with a long-bodied bull that I know will add length to his calves, which will make extra pounds to sell. Length is the easiest place to increase your weaning weight, without increasing your calving difficulties.

Dam of this lot was one of the most powerful cows to walk our ranch. She raised the high-selling bull in our 2012 sale going to the Helling Ranch. I could tell that the 217 cow was showing her age when we put the cows out to summer pasture. But little did I know that our neighbor would call a week after we put them out to pasture to tell us we had a cow that looked like she was sleeping by the gate ... alone ... and he thought she was dead. Yep! So this bull became an orphan all summer. Time has allowed him to catch up a lot. He is good, smooth and should breed her power to his calves.

THANKS TO HILLTOP RANCH SUPPLY FOR HELPING SPONSOR THE NOON MEAL!

We looked for several years to find a manure spreader that would be the "ultimate spreader." We found it at www.artexmfg.com. Take a look at their web site and watch them run the car thru the spreader. We love their spreaders so much we took on the dealership for them! Artex spreaders come in all sizes and they are the "Beasts of the Barn Yard!"

The last calf out of a great cow family that traces back to our donor and powerhouse cow 012. This bull has a quiet disposition. He does have a tiny white spot in his eye, which he got as a young calf before leaving for summer pasture. It doesn't hurt anything and is guaranteed not to affect his work, but I just wanted to put everything on the table.
