Lot 1

All Jacked Up was the 2013 Grand Champion Bull at the Northwest Regional Show in Spokane, WA, and is a leading contender for the 2014 National Champion Bull honors in Denver. It's no Surprise, but then again it is! It's no surprise that a Jackaroo son would be a contender for the National Crown as his offspring win everywhere they show! But it is a Surprise son, like TL Julius who was Reserve National Champion in 2011. Surprise was also the Grand Champion at the Sydney Royal Easter Show (like Jackaroo) and was the 2010 US National Champion Cow/Calf Pair. She was also Grand Champion Female at the Northwest Regional Show in Yakima, WA. Surprise is a full sister to Starr, Boxcar's dam - the 2012 National Reserve Champion Bull - and she is the dam of TL Chiclet, dam of the 2013 National Reserve Champion RF Imperial. Chiclet now resides at Riverwood Farms in Powell, Ohio.

Kobblevale Surprise, dam of Lot 1

Yarra Ranges Jackaroo, sire of Lot 1

Not only is All Jacked Up a great show bull, he is a real beef man's bull. This ET calf out of a big recip had a 62# birthweight, an adjusted 205-day weight of 522# and an adjusted yearling weight of 901#, truly off the charts for a fullblood Lowline! He had a fantastic ultrasound IMF of 4.09 with an IMF ratio of 116 at 379 days of age.

We are selling 3/4 interest and full possession after the 2014 National Show (he's entered) and 100% of the semen rights on this bull. Included will be 150 straws of semen. Muddy Creek Ranch will retain a 1/4 interest to use the semen in their herd as they see fit.

This is an outstanding opportunity to put your herd ahead of the pack by adding a herd sire who has great semen sales earning power and might be the most powerful son of the Australian Champions ever offered.

 [ KOTINGA PIPPA Q002

Check out this long-bodied, sweet-fronted 2-year-old. She's a gorgeous Spring Creek Tonka daughter who traces on the bottom side to Beau Lad and Pippa, the very first Lowline female imported into the US in 1996. Pippa was a crowd favorite at ag shows all across the US. She is safe in calf to Boxcar, due in mid April 2014.

Here's as stout made a fullblood heifer as you will find. Her dam is an own daughter of the great import Union Pacific out of a 3/4 sister to ALM Bess 102H. Her sire, Update, now in the Sue Newman herd in Washington, has produced some fantastic calves for Dave Ditmer in Ohio and Randy McDonald in Michigan. She's deep and beefy with the extra growth and fleshing ability that the forage based beef production systems are searching for. She is safe in calf, due in May to Bonanza's Prince 2Y, the 2012 American Royal Grand Champion.

She's so sweet fronted, so feminine and fancy - you'll just love her and she'll make a great cow. Her granddam W334 is a rare Panmure daughter that is a sister to W332, the dam of Fancy Pants and Update.

His sire, Harvester, was the 2012 National Reserve Champion Percentage Bull. He's got a big, wide full belt, a tremendous disposition and excellent performance. He weighs a little over 900 # right off grass at 10 months of age. He'll be big enough to breed several heifers or cows this spring.

This great looking red carrier is by the now deceased EZ Red Fox 123X. The Red Fox daughters are really nice. Uma's dam is a great looking young Utah daughter, making her a sister to the high selling Moderator heifer at last year's National Sale who went on to win the Junior National last June in Brookings, SD. She's sweet.

Here's another super attractive red carrier Moderator heifer by Red Fox out of one of our oldest and most productive Clout daughters. Barbara Ann has the body of a typical easy fleshing Lowline female but as a double halfblood, she's got some extra grow power. She has sisters in the David James herd in Tennessee, Mike Huffman's Mountain View Cattle herd in Maryland and the Boss Farms herd in South Carolina. She always produces extra special heifers and this might be the best one!
